Authority

Authority comes from authenticity. Jesus had the authenticity to be the face of God on earth and He did show that face and people were "astounded" at His words and deeds! Authenticity comes from the seal and approval of a superior authority and Jesus came with the authority and approval of God the Almighty, and He Himself stated, quoting Isaiah, that the Spirit of God was in Him and that He was sent to proclaim the acceptable time of the Lord. As Moses foretold long ago about Jesus, God would put His words into the mouth of Him and He would speak everything that God commanded Him. Jesus acknowledged on many instances His dependence on the Father by stating that He was one with the Father, that He and the Father were One, that He lived in the Father and the Father lived in Him, that He was speaking the words of the Father, and so on.

Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time ~ January 29, 2012

Fourth Sunday in Ordinary Time

It was with this authority received from the Father that He was commanding the spirits to get away from people and since those commands were with such force of authority that the evil spirits could not but obey. Not only did they obey but they even acknowledged Him as the Holy One of God. This confession by the evil spirits became another testimony to prove the origin and authority of Jesus. And Jesus also recalls the works He was doing as another testimony for Himself to prove His power, authority and also the truth about Himself or the Truth that He was. From here onwards we are going to see more of the working and the exercise of the authority of Jesus in word and in deed and we will see His authority and power with the people growing, and the challenges He had to face from His detractors because of it. Let us try to follow the steps of Jesus and grow into Him, allowing ourselves to be astounded and being invited to obey Him and submit ourselves to His authority.

Fr. George.
